A natural traveler's inn nestled in a birch forest

Dacha refers to a second house with a vegetable garden in the countryside, which was common in the former Soviet Union. Beriosk is the Russian word for birch (forest). Dacha Beriosk is a small inn that located in the midst of a birch forest. A group of private facilities, equipped with an outdoor cooking corner and a play terrace, welcomes travelers with nature in mind. A few of the attractions include trekking from the inn to the Kirigamine/Utsukushigahara Central Divide Trail, collecting wild plants and picking mushrooms. Pets are welcome in both the cottages and the cabins which are self-catering. This inn is recommended for nature travelers who love the outdoors. We have year round activities and the facilities are good for large groups

Walking trips, long trails and cabin camping!

Cabin camping is where you can easily enjoy staying at facilities such as cottages and campers without worrying about the weather, preparing camping gear or setting up a tent outdoors. You can cook with a Dutch oven, stove or over a BBQ, etc. as we can prepare all the equipment. On the walking trip /long trail, you will be able to see the central dividing ridge trail of Kirigamine/Utsukushigahara and its historical roads, nature trails and eco-hike around the grounds. Wild foliage lovers are welcomed by the open garden, which is a natural garden abundant with wild plants.

Creative home cooking using local ingredients

We are proud of our creative home cooking using local ingredients. We provide wild vegetables in spring and mushrooms in autumn. Cooking using homegrown vegetables is popular for its rich natural taste. Pickles are homemade. Autumn is great for a mushroom hotpot and summertime is nice to have a barbeque. You can cook outdoors at the Dutch oven firepit or make pizzas in the pizza oven and use a smoker to make your meal.
